RAP4 NON-LETHAL PEPPER BALLS

RAP4 Less Lethal Projectiles have multiple applications:
Riot Control, Controlling Uncooperative or Violent Suspects, Standoff Situations - Multiple Suspects, Jail / Corrections, Domestic Violence – Fights, Transit Police Operations, Private Patrol Operators, Crowd / Event Management

The RAP4 Less Lethal Projectiles are hard plastic spheres built to burst on impact. They contain a very fine Capsicum 1% (chili-pepper) dust-like powder. RAP4 Less Lethal Projectiles are filled with enough Capsaicin powder to irritate a suspect's eyes, nose and throat.

The RAP4 Less Lethal Projectiles is delivered by a high pressure system with enough kinetic force to get the suspect's attention, unleashing a cloud of Capsicum 1% powder into the face (eyes, nose and throat) of the aggressor. The RAP4 Less Lethal System offers effective tools for achieving suspect compliance. Because the projectiles break upon impact, they do not penetrate skin or pose ricochet hazards, making the RAP4 Less Lethal System safe even at contact range. As they burst on impact and fill the vicinity with the irritant powder, using the RAP4 Less Lethal System officers don't have to hit their target to subdue the suspect. By shooting in the vicinity, the suspect will be overwhelmed by a cloud of irritation powder.

Even when the suspect is running away, the officer can shoot into a wall or object in front of the suspect, leaving the suspect running into a barely visible cloud of irritation powder. RAP4 Less Lethal Projectiles can be delivered effectively 150 feet away.

GLASS BREAKER BALLS

Glass Breaking Balls are .68 caliber projectiles. These balls are ideal for breaking vehicular and structural windows, and are ideally followed by the Less Lethal Capsaicin Projectiles from the SplitFire's secondary ammunition source (magazine or hopper).

PAIN COMPLIANCE BALLS

These are training balls but are also the hardest balls and are used for pain compliance. This is not to be confused with rubber bullets or WASP rounds or bean bag rounds. These balls will hurt, but unlike true "rubber bullet" ammunition they do not have knock down power to incapacitate an attacker, and should not be relied upon to do so. They hurt and sting badly, but will not knock the wind out of an attacker.

PRACTICE GOLF DIMPLED POWDER BALLS

Real Action Paintball just raised the bar for training projectiles with a ball that is impervious to temperature and weather, improves accuracy...and actually flies farther. RAP4's new Guided Optimum Longer Flight (G.O.L.F.) Powder Ball is made of wax, with dimples covering the surface to affect the way air moves around the ball. The center is powder, which leaves an obvious mark on impact. This powder fill cannot "settle out" over time, and does not resist acceleration the way liquid and paint fills do - it is the ideal fill for promoting accuracy. The aerodynamically dimpled surface decreases drag, thus increasing range.

The biggest advantage to the G.O.L.F. Powder Balls, over paintballs or any other training round, is how the wax shell is impervious to weather. Their top-quality construction gives these rounds a three year shelf life...minimum. The shell will not get soft during hot desert drills, nor will it swell on humid summer days...or in the rain. Don't throw away any more spoiled paintballs...G.O.L.F. Powder Balls will be intact, rigid, and straight-flying when you need them most. This resistance to deformation also helps improve accuracy, as it means that each ball retains its uniformity.

With the G.O.L.F. round, you can train like you're going to fight: in the rain, sleet, snow, or whatever nasty weather challenges you. These rounds are ideal for training in changing, challenging, and downright inhospitable environments.

...and for training with any .68 launcher, like RAP4's acclaimed T68 family of launchers. Whatever paintball gun -based training system you have, the G.O.L.F. Powder Balls will improve your training experience.
